Module 1: Becoming a Sales Superstar

Lesson 1 Introduction to Entrepreneurial Selling

Whether you have 2, 20, or 200 people at your company, entrepreneurships and growing businesses have very different challenges than large companies. Maybe you haven't been around that long. Perhaps you're selling a new idea or new approach. Or simply selling against established players is a challenge. This lesson covers the special challenges of selling at entrepreneurships. The lesson also identifies best practices to help you get the most from your membership and the common pitfalls some members fall into.

Lesson 2 How Rainmakers Achieve Breakthrough Results

What people think makes for top performance in sales, and what actually makes for top performance in sales are typically very different things. This lesson covers the crucial elements that drive successful sales people and rainmakers forward, the hidden weaknesses that hold them back, and the 10 Rainmaker Principles that top performance share and live by that propel them to elite sales status and results.

Lesson 3 Understanding the Dynamics of the Sale

Sales advice abounds for what you should absolutely do and not do in sales. The problem is so much of the advice conflict, it's hard to know which sales advice to accept and which to reject. This lesson covers the three major dynamics at play in sales that will help you make decisions about how to prospect, how to build the relationship, how to uncover needs, how to sell the vision of what you sell, and more.

Module 2: Understanding Buying

Lesson 4 How Buying Works

Top sales performers think buying first, selling second. If you want to succeed in sales, you have to understand how buying works, what buyers are going through, and how to map your sales process to the buying process to facilitate success. This lesson will help you understand the major stages of the buying process, and what goes on in each.

Lesson 5 Succeeding with the 8 Buyer Personas

Not all buyers are alike in their buying styles and preferences. How Decisive Danielle buys is very different than Collaborative Claire. And how Relationship Renee buys is very different than Skeptical Steve. This lesson covers how buying works and details the core 8 Buyer Personas that all sellers must be able to identify, approach the right way, and learn to help buy.

Module 3: Value Propositions that Sell

Lesson 6 Crafting & Communicating Your Value Proposition

Everyone is told they need to understand and articulate their value if they want people to buy, but few people know how to actually do it.

You'll learn:

- 3 keys to developing a winning value proposition
- How to introduce yourself to prospects in a memorable way
- How to identify the true value of your offerings and how to articulate it
- Strategies to capitalize on the benefits you provide
- How to explain and build enthusiasm for hard-to-describe products and services
- How to uncover the hot buttons that drive prospects to buy from you, and keep buying

At the conclusion of this lesson, you will have created a value proposition for a product or service you offer, which means you will be able to communicate to your prospects the value you deliver in a meaningful way.

Module 4: Leading Masterful Sales Conversations

Lesson 7 RAIN Selling

If you want to be able to lead masterful sales conversations, you need to know how to make connections with buyers, uncover need, demonstrate impact, build trust, influence, and create a vision for the prospect of what their lives will be like if they purchase from you. The key to being able to do this is RAIN Group's proven RAIN Selling method, the method upon which Entrepreneurial Selling is based. This lesson covers the key points in RAIN Selling and lays the groundwork for the lessons that follow.

Lesson 8 Keys to Qualifying Prospects

Top sales people are constantly evaluating which opportunities are worth pursuing, and how much effort and energy they should devote to each one. On the flip side, many average and unsuccessful sales people spend too much time focusing on buyers that don't have enough money to buy (or won't spend what they do have), can't make the decision, aren't interested in buying, don't perceive the need to buy, or will buy but will take years and years to do so. In this lesson, we'll teach how to qualify buyers using FAINT (and why other qualification methods fall short) allowing you to focus your time and energy on the best possible buyers.

Simulations

You walk into a meeting with the purpose of closing a deal you've been working on for six months. About 10 minutes in, after the prospect has said they're a go, he says, "But budget's going to be a problem. We'll need to do it for 10% less."

Millions of dollars are at stake.
What do you say?

These are the kinds of scenarios you'll face in the RAIN Selling Simulation, a two-part, computer-based sales 'game' you'll play during the course of Entrepreneurial Selling.

Lesson 9 Building Rapport & Connecting with Buyers

People trust people they like. People buy from people they like. People want people they like to succeed. Your ability to make connections with buyers and build rapport is a key to your sales success. This lesson covers the building blocks for building trust and making connections, and contains essential tips for building real rapport with prospects.

Lesson 10 Discovering Needs You can Solve

All sellers need to be able to uncover their prospect's needs. Uncover your client's problems and pain (their afflictions) and their desires and goals (aspirations) and you create the foundation for sales success. As well, sellers need to be able to uncover this root cause of needs. Until you know what is causing problems, it's difficult to apply a solution that will have any lasting or positive effect. This lesson covers the three types of questions you need to be able to ask to uncover needs, how to uncover needs through advocacy, and the most effective technique for uncovering the root causes of problems.

More on the Simulations

You'll represent your company, Eagle, to a number of different prospects with different situations, needs, buying processes, and objections. You'll be given a variety of scenarios and options for how to respond. Your choices will determine if you win or lose, and how much you close the sales for... if you close them at all.

You'll get feedback about your choices after each round and why some choices are better than others.

Entrepreneurial Selling is the only sales simulation available as a part of a world-class sales training program built specifically for entrepreneurs and available to you online. It's a fun, engaging, and innovative way to practice the key concepts you'll learn in Entrepreneurial Selling.

Lesson 11 Balancing Advocacy & Inquiry

Sellers are often told they need to “just ask great questions.” Others are told they need to be able to pitch, persuade, tell stories, and present. In reality, balancing advocacy (telling, sharing, presenting) and inquiry (asking questions) is the most powerful approach. This lesson covers the keys to success for balancing advocacy and inquiry.

Lesson 12 Maximizing the Impact of Your Solution

What impact will buying from you have on the prospect or their business? Get your prospect to answer this question and you (and they) will know just how important solving the need or reaching the desired future state is to the prospect. You’ll also get a sense of just how much it’s worth – and what your prospect might spend – to solve the problem or reach the goal. This lesson covers strategies you should employ to uncover the impact, including how to build your own impact model, which will make your selling efforts much more successful.

Lesson 13 Bringing the New Reality to Life

We are all in the business of change. It’s how you paint the picture of change and present it to your prospect that has an effect on your ability to sell. This lesson covers how to build and communicate a compelling picture of how your prospect’s situation will improve when they buy from you.

Module 5: Essential Skills to Winning the Sale

Lesson 14 Overcoming Objections with NUT$

Objections are a natural part of sales. If they don't come up, it often means the prospect isn't interested. When they do (and they will) you need to know how to overcome them. This lesson covers a 5-step process for handling objections, the four major types of objections – NUT$ -, and how to respond to them in a way that will get you closer to the close.

Lesson 15 Refining Your Sales Approach Based on the Dynamics of Your Sale

Sales advice abounds for what you should absolutely do and not do in sales. The problem is so much of the advice conflict, it's hard to know which sales advice to accept and which to reject. This lesson covers the three major dynamics at play in sales that will help you make decisions about how to prospect, how to build the relationship, how to uncover needs, how to sell the vision of what you sell, and more.

Lesson 16 Presentations that Wow

If you want to sell a vision, if you need people to visualize a new reality you can create for them, if you need to be able to persuade people, you need to be able to present with skill and savvy. This lesson covers the keys behind great presentations and demonstrations, the common mistakes that derail presentation, and provides examples and templates to help you build and deliver presentations that wow.

Module 5: Essential Skills to Winning the Sale

Lesson 17 Sales Negotiation Success

When it gets down to commitment time, buyers will often seek to negotiate a better deal, or press you in some other way. This lesson covers how to approach win-win negotiations, how to get past posturing and to collaborative solutions, and what to do when you believe your prospect is not taking a win-win approach, but just trying to get concessions from you.

Lesson 18 Gaining Commitment & Winning Sales

Everything in sales leads up to the close. If you can't win the sale, all of your efforts are for naught. This lesson covers what it takes to win the sale, including how to set the table for success and close with the right actions, and without using manipulative closing techniques that destroy trust and relationships.

Module 7: Maximizing Sales Success

Lesson 23 Sales Call and Opportunity Planning

If you want to succeed in every sales call or opportunity, you have to determine what success looks like, what actions you're going to take to achieve that success, and what might stand in your way of getting there. If you know the answers to these questions, you'll increase your odds of succeeding. In this lesson, we'll introduce you to a powerful Opportunity Planning Tool to help you prepare for any sales call or opportunity.

Lesson 24, 25, & 26 Goal Setting & Action Planning

It's a fact. Sales people that have written goals and action plans are much more likely to become top revenue producers. This lesson covers RAIN Group's 6 Minute Goals system to help you create your own set of goals, an action plan to achieve them, and a goals ritual to help you stick with them.

Lesson 27 On the Road to Millions

Following the Entrepreneurial Selling roadmap, you're now equipped with the knowledge, tools, and process you need to succeed in selling. In this lesson, you'll learn how to build and sustain your hustle, passion, and intensity for selling over the long haul.
